The body of the pistol is made of a special polymer that is highly impact and UV resistant and can be operated through a wide range of temperatures.

The barrel of this Flare Gun is made of stainless steel which guarantees a minimum lifetime of about 2000 shoots with full power flares.

Flare guns are used in any situation when you need to send a distress signal.

The flares must be shot straight up into the air, making the signal visible for a longer period and revealing the position of whoever needs assistance.
